FINAL REJECTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.
2. Claims 1 and 2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yeh et al. (US 2002/0197763) in view of Nakai (US 5864170, newly cited), and further in view of Kishita et al. (EP 0616012).

Yeh discloses a method for adhering a coating 74 to a surface of a dielectric layer 70 of a device produced in a CMOS process (figures 7 and 8; paragraphs 9, 10, 15 and 16). Yeh discloses that layer 70 is a passivation layer comprising silicone-oxy-nitride (section 16).

Nakai discloses a device that can be used as a color filter, said device comprising a passivation layer. Nakai further discloses that using a polymer film for a passivation layer in a color filter is a well-known and conventional alternative to using a silicon-oxy-nitride layer. At the time the invention was made it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use a polymer layer in place of a silicon-oxy-nitride layer for Yeh's passivation layer 74 because a polymer film is a well-known and conventional alternative as taught by Nakai above.

It is unclear if Yeh and Nakai disclose application of an adhesion promoter wherein said adhesion promoter comprises a hybrid organic-inorganic material which is partially or fully fluorinated. Kishita discloses a method of applying a fluorinated hybrid organic-inorganic material containing silicon to the surface of an electronic substrate for the purpose of promoting adhesion between said electronic substrate and another surface. Kishita further discloses that a fluorinated hybrid organic-inorganic material containing silicon has excellent adhesion promoting properties, especially when applied to electrical surfaces (abstract, page 2). At the time of the invention it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art to apply Kishita's adhesion promoting layer to the dielectric layer of Yeh as modified by Nakai as taught by Kishita above. Such a modification to Yeh's method would improve the bond between Yeh's dielectric layer surface and coating 74.

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1 and 2 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
